Fully immerse yourself in a variety of health environments and scenarios. Our brand new interactive Immersive Rooms combine innovative technology, augmented reality, interactive 3D graphics and audio content to give a creative multi-sensory learning space.

Running on the very latest cutting-edge technology, the Immersive Rooms allow for visual, auditory and sensory immersion, as well as letting students interact with the environments and objects projected onto the walls by simply walking up and touching them.

The space allows student cohorts across the Institute of Health to engage in fully immersive simulations that can take them anywhere – from the home of a 70-year-old dementia patient to the site of a motorway accident – within seconds.

All our scenarios are created in-house and are tailored exactly to the relevant health profession and learning outcomes of each session.
